Ridikulous Daze Anonymity

The six businessmen above horsin' around for Jacksonville Ridikulous Daze Friday and Saturday, July 5 and 6, would prefer for obvious reasons to remain anonymous. The Indian does lend a note of authenticity to Ridikulous Daze as he sits astride a local store manager wearing an honest-to-goodness Buffalo coat worn in the Spanish-American War. Outlandish costumes and antics such as pictured will feature the big two day Sale during the holiday weekend. Local merchants will feature bargains on every and anything they can 'lay their hands on.'

Local Young People At Iowa Church Assembly Hit By Flu Epidemic

BULLETIN

Nine from the Springfield Presbytery left Jacksonville June 26th for the Westminster Fellowship National Assembly at Grinnell, Iowa. Only one of the group suffered symptoms of the influenza epidemic. The nine arrived in Jacksonville at 1:45 a.m. Tuesday. The group included adviser Lawrence Woodcock of Decatur and young people, Kenneth Dobson and Pat Davis, Jacksonville; Brenda Palian, Decatur; Ellen and Jane Brown, Decatur; Larry Week, Springfield; Linda Moss, Taylorville; and Anella Flinspock of Mason City. Miss Brown of Decatur was the only one in the group ill, but made the return trip with the group.

GRINNELL, Iowa (AP)—Iowa and federal health officers today studied an epidemic of influenza here which afflicted 200 persons at a national Presbyterian youth assembly.

The Westminster Fellowship National Assembly, sponsored by the Presbyterian church of the U. S. A., was attended by 1,800 persons.

Dr. Edmund G. Zimmerer, state health commissioner, referred to it as an "epidemic," but a U. S. Public Health Service physician said the cases were "very mild."

One of the first reactions was whether the outbreak was Asian influenza which has spread out of China to other parts of the world.

Although this type flu is believed to have reached the West Coast, Dr. Zimmerer said no cases have yet definitely been diagnosed in this country. He said it would be two weeks before health officials could determine whether the illness was Oriental influenza.

The illness produces a sore throat, backache and fever.

Cool Weather, Rains Affect Crop Outlook

Crop conditions on July 1 indicate that a continuing plentiful supply of moisture in June with accompanying cool temperatures has produced conditions just opposite to the extreme drought the Western Corn Belt has experienced for the past three or four years.

These comments from DeKalb's Western Corn Belt crop reporters are typical this year. From South Dakota, "Farmers here are thinking of hitting on both small grain and corn crops this year—an unusual occurrence. This is in prospect even if corn is somewhat behind normal." From East Central Nebraska, "condition of wheat looks like one of our best years; the oats crop looks like the best ever; hay and pasture are very good. Corn and soybeans uneven in size, but good."

About 10 Days Late
The corn crop in general is a week to ten days behind normal and is very uneven in development due to intermittent planting because of continued rains. Many sections reported corn from just planted to two feet tall. In Western Tennessee, fields laid by and not yet planted can be found on the same farm. Planting and replanting will continue until July 4 in wet areas.

The soybean production this year could elevate this crop well past the billion dollar mark in total value. Production of 500 million bushels—the largest ever—could well be realized. Two groups of farmers in particular have planted more soybeans this year —those planting within corn acreage allotments and those in wet areas where corn planting was greatly delayed.

Many More Beans
In Central Illinois this year, many farms have two to three times the acreage of beans that they have in corn. Such outlying states as Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin report more beans planted than ever before. Late planting does not have the adverse effect on bean yields that has on corn. Quicker maturity of beans as compared to corn usually eliminates loss due to frost.

Two of the areas hardest hit by rain are Arkansas and Southern Illinois. In Arkansas, crops on 100,000 acres in the Arkansas River Valley have been ruined. In Southern Illinois, recent floods covered thousands of acres which cannot be planted this year. Floods were so heavy there that they washed cars off roads and cows out of fields.

Local Residents Sell Livestock

Roy Corrington of Alexander obtained $22 cwt. for a consignment of 24 mixed steers and heifers sold recently by the Producers Live Stock Marketing Association, Stock Yards, Ill. They weighed 828 pounds. Among a few other recent sales made for residents of this locality by the Cooperative included:

Lloyd W. Dahman of Franklin marketed a short load of 1013-lb. steers at $22.

Howard Deitrick of Chapin had in a half-dozen 1120-lb. steers at $21.75, and five head of 1119-lb. heifers at $19.50.

A shipment of stock marketed by Donald W. Houston and Son of Chapin included 21 head of 202-lb. hogs that brought the day's top of $20.50, and 17 head of 79-lb. lambs at $18.70.

Shipping from Jacksonville, Wiley H. Jackson and Son marketed 28 hogs averaging 218 lbs. at $20.25.

William R. Clayton, Jacksonville, secured $19.50 cwt. for a 43-head drove of 241-lb. hogs.

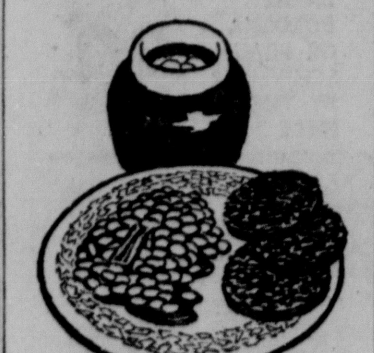

A shipment of 23 hogs averaging 213 lbs. brought $19.75 for C. O. Anderson of Jacksonville.

TROUBLE STILL BUBBLES IN MID-EAST—The Newsmap above illustrates two important developments in the Middle East that produce a trouble-loaded situation. One is the heavy loss in prestige of Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser. Once the feared leader of the Arab nationalist states, he now has only Syria at his side of all his former allies. Four of them are actively lined up with the West against Nasser's pro-Soviet policies; three—Libya, Sudan and Yemen—are doing nothing to help him. In fact Libya recently expelled an Egyptian colonel for subversive activities. Yemen is expected to follow the lead of King Saud. The other Middle East development is Russia's military and naval activity in the explosive area. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) is watching this very closely, despite Moscow's "peace program" at the London disarmament conference.

UP WE GO—Where the price-wage spiral will end is the big question the nation is asking following the announcement by U.S. Steel of a $6 per ton increase in steel prices. The boost, effective July 1, coincides with the date of an automatic pay rise for steelworkers under the contract signed last August. The increase, which will up the nation's steel bill by more than half a billion dollars, has set off a reaction that may lead to a congressional investigation of the industry. Other producers are expected to follow U.S. Steel's lead. Graph above shows the course of steel prices since 1951. Data from Steel Magazine, based on Bureau of Labor Statistics figures.

BRIDE-ELECT MISS GRISWOLD FETED AT PARTY

WHITE HALL—Mrs. Lee Griswold, assisted by Misses Ann Knight, Barbara Jones and Eloise Lee Guls was hostess at the Griswold home on Thursday night with a bridal shower honoring Miss Suzanne Griswold who will become the bride of Paul Carter Jr. on July 21.

LOVE A PARADE

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (P) — It wasn't easy but the Rotarians managed to stage their parade.

The rains came and sent two bands and a drill team scurrying for cover.

Others splashed on, led by musicians from another high school band. Half of them got across the railroad tracks but the others had to wait—a train came along.

The stragglers finally caught up and all went well until two horses, frightened by the music, reared and broke their harness.

Another delay.

Spectators said it was the most interesting parade ever seen.

SUMMER REVIVAL

NEW YORK (P) — The musical team of Cy Feuer and Ernie Martin is getting as important as Rodgers & Hammerstein in the field of summertime show business.

Feuer and Martin haven't had a show on Broadway all year, but now the stock rights to three of their five-in-a-row hits are being released for burlesque runs—"Silk Stockings," "Can-can" and "Boy Friend." Previously released were "Where's Charley?" and "Guys and Dolls."

Roodhouse Woman Heads Greene Calhoun Salon

WHITE HALL — The regular meeting of the Greene-Calhoun Salon No. 603, of 8 and 40 American Legion Auxiliary was held Friday night at the home of Mrs. Ella Whitworth, in Hamburg with a potluck supper.

Attending from here were Miss Ruth A. Hitch, Mrs. William McCarthy, Mrs. Alma Dugger, Mrs. Ivamae Dickerson, Mrs. Perry White and Mrs. Hershel Hayes.

An election of officers was held with the following results: Chaplain, Nona Frye, Roodhouse; La Deme Chapin, Ruby Denny, Roodhouse; La Duisme, Fanny McCarthy; Conceirge, Ivamae Dickerson; La Archiviste, Lela Hubbard, and La Aumonier, Alma Dugger, White Hall. Mrs. Jessie Kemp was a guest and voted as a new member of the Salon.

GLOBE RECLAIMED

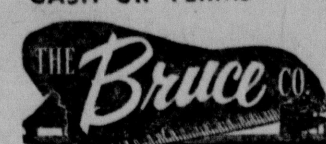

NEW YORK (P) — Another Broadway theater, has been recaptured for the stage instead of movies.

The Globe theater has been bought by a partnership for $1,200,000. The group plans to spend another half million in refurbishing the 1,500 seat auditorium.

The Globe was built by Charles Dillingham in 1910, played numerous stage hits before bowing to the great movie craze in 1931.

Kline Named To U.S. Board For The Deaf

Thomas K. Kline, superintendent of the Illinois School for the Deaf, has been recently elected to the nine member executive committee of the Conference of Executives of American Schools for the Deaf and, also, appointed chairman for the next two years of the Educational Research Committee of the Conference which met June 29 at the Tennessee School for the Deaf, Knoxville, Tenn.

The Conference of Executives of American Schools for the Deaf, originally the Conference of Superintendents and Principals of American Schools for the Deaf, was founded in 1888 and subsequently incorporated under the laws of the State of Maryland in 1931. It is an organization of the executive heads of schools for the deaf in the United States and Canada, and has for its object "to promote the management and operation of schools for the deaf along the broadest and most effective lines and to further and promote the general welfare of the deaf."

As a member of the executive committee, Kline will assist in administering the publication of the American Annals of the Deaf, a bi-monthly periodical founded in 1847. The American Annals of the Deaf, the oldest and continuous educational publication in the country, is made available to all teachers of the deaf in the United States as well as Canada and foreign countries and many professional groups interested in the field of the education of the deaf.

L. C. Graduate

There was never any hesitancy about Kline's calling. Fresh out of Illinois College in Jacksonville he received his M. S. from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, and his certificate to teach the deaf at Clark School for the Deaf in Northampton, Mass. He also received an M.A. in Special Education from Gallaudet College where he later served as assistant professor.

Kline has worked in the field of special education for more than 20 years as a teacher and administrator; the last five as superintendent of the local west-end school. Many improvements and additions to the physical plant have been added during his short tenure as superintendent; the more recent being the new 17-room, one-story brick vocational building which will complete a rectangular arrangement of buildings housing the school programs of the entire school.

Promise Enforcement Of New Speed Laws

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 2.—Illinois is entering its first holiday period under the new speed limit which is expected to reduce highway fatalities.

Director Joseph D. Bibb, Department of Public Safety, said "We have completed our plans to place every available man on the road during this holiday period. Our aim is to produce the best traffic safety record this state has ever known. With new laws allowing more positive enforcement, we are now in a position to provide Illinois citizens with the best highway protection possible."

"Every Available Man" William H. Morris, superintendent of the state police, said: "We have completed our plans to place every available man on the road during this holiday period. Our aim is to produce the best traffic safety record this state has ever known. With new laws allowing more positive enforcement, we are now in a position to provide Illinois citizens with the best highway protection possible."

In addition to regular patrols, each State Police district will use unmarked cars and a radar speed measuring unit to assist in controlling excessive speed. Officers have been instructed that these limits are to be considered the absolute maximum and any speed in excess of the limits is in violation of the new law.

Accuse Mother Of Leading Boy To Kill Father

BROOKHAVEN, Miss. (U)—Mrs. Theresa Daisy, 32, has been accused of buying bullets for her 10-year-old son's 22 rifle and then planting "the germ in the child's mind" which resulted in the boy shooting his father to death.

Dist. Atty. Mike Carr said today he has filed charges accusing the Crystal Springs woman of being an accessory before the fact in the murder of her husband, Alex Daisy, 41.

The boy, Leo, is charged with murder although he is only 10 years old. He was released to the custody of an aunt and uncle. Mrs. Daisy was held in jail without bond.

Carr said he filed the accessory charges against Mrs. Daisy because "she planted the germ in the child's mind and did nothing at all to prevent him from killing his father."

The father was shot to death at their Crystal Springs home last Wednesday night. Mrs. Daisy had told officers the boy shot Daisy because he was mistreating her.

Carr said questioning of the mother and son disclosed that Mrs. Daisy bought bullets Monday for the boy to use in backyard target practice. When the father came home Wednesday and then left the house about 9 p.m., Carr said, the boy loaded his rifle and his mother lay down on a living room couch to await Daisy's return.

Mrs. Daisy awakened the boy when she heard the father's car in the yard, handed the boy his gun and they waited for Daisy to enter the house, the district attorney said. He said Leo shot his father after the latter walked across a room and turned on a light.

Carr said Mrs. Daisy and her two children then crossed the street and spent the night with a neighbor. The following morning, he said, Mrs. Daisy called a doctor to say her husband was drunk, but the doctor arrived to find the father's body sprawled on the living room floor.

LEAVES NOTE FOR MILKMAN; NOW HE'S OUT $905.65

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U)—Leaving a note for the milkman may be the reason Dewey Cassidy is out $905.65.

Cassidy told police when he left for work Monday he left $5.65 on the kitchen table and this note pinned to his backdoor:

"Milkman—you can get your money on the kitchen table."

Cassidy said when he got home he discovered the $5.65 was gone—along with $900 he had cached under a bedroom rug.

To top it off, he said, "I forgot the milkman didn't even come today."

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Early Wynn came around and fired to the plate. The veteran right-hander reached for his right hip and grimaced.

Pain hit Wynn as he walked to the dugout. He had to be taken to the dressing room, and Kerby Farrell stared at the field as another pitcher was brought in.

This was in Tucson and the Indians were playing an exhibition game with Baltimore, but it was a little more than that to Farrell. It was the start of a grind which was to make his first season as a major league manager one of the sternest tests a fellow breaking in has faced.

Wynn joined Ray Narleski, whose finger had been broken earlier, on the injury list.

As the weeks sped by, Farrell was to find himself with the first two catchers, Jim Hegan and Hal Naragon, out; Bob Lemon on the sideline for 25 days; Roger Maris, prize recruit outfielder, in the sick bay with broken ribs; then finally the great Herb Score stretched out on the mound, blood gushing from his mouth, his eye horribly bashed by Gil McDougald's line drive.

FARRELL WAS BROUGHT TO Cleveland because of his long and successful experience in the minors. After a 16-year wait, he knew he would have to draw on every bit of it to make a good showing, even if all the Indians remained healthy.

Farrell, old first baseman and pitcher, started managing with Erie of the Middle Atlantic League in 1941. In Class C, it was a life of bumpy bus rides to Zanesville, Dayton, Youngstown, Akron and Springfield, O.

Kids can stand all night bus rides, but they're tough on an older guy. But the older head learns to get along with hardships in professional baseball, if Farrell had not been on buses and through long days and nights, he would not have stood up in subsequent campaigns when things were equally rough one way or another.

FARRELL IS A LEATHER-FACED, quiet Tennessean of 43 whose nose is well dented and whose talk is that of one who has been through the mill and then some.

"Score," he said, "that really hurts. I lose sleep over that. More than baseball it meant, this kid . . . with his whole life in front of him. And what a kid . . . his morals. Just that alone was enough to leave you sick when he got hurt."

"It's only now that I've even started thinking about the baseball side. I figure we lose two games a week without Score. And his record showed that he beat the good clubs just as many times as he beat the so-called second division clubs."

"But you can't let anything upset you — anything."

WHEN FARRELL CAME TO Cleveland, it was a bright opportunity and despite his placid manner, the opportunity had to excite him.

But when the bell rang for his big swing, Farrell found handcuffs on him and they haven't been removed. Injuries have all but wrecked his maiden voyage on the big time, yet he sat there over coffee and said, simply, "Don't write that I'm crying. I don't do that."

Hank Greenberg came in and Kerby Farrell left with him. The waiter came in to clear the table.

"He doesn't remember me, but I played against him in the Middle Atlantic League in 1933," the waiter said.

"He's seen so many guys," the waiter was told.

"Yes, he has," said the waiter. "He's lucky to have been through it, too. I mean, he knows all the rough spots. And the year he's having — he's got to know his way around or he goes crazy."

World's Richest Harness Races At State Fair

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — The 1937 Illinois State Fair, August 9-12, will run the "World's Richest Harness Races" when it offers $487,000 in prizes during the seven-day racing program.

An estimated $60,000 of this total will go for the Illinois State Fair Cote Stakes, set up to stimulate interest in breeding horses in Illinois. To be eligible, a horse must have been sired by a stallion owned and standing in Illinois.

The harness racing card will be run Friday and Saturday, August 9 and 10, and Monday through Friday, August 12-16.

To better enjoy the races it is best to understand a little of the harness track terminology.

Harness horses either trot or pace and both gaits are acquired through long and patient training.

The trotter moves with a diagonal gait, the left front and right rear feet going forward together, then the right front and left rear. The pacer moves with a lateral gait, swinging the left front and left rear legs forward simultaneously and then the two right legs.

A "break" occurs when a horse leaves his required gait and "breaks" into a gallop or run. His driver must immediately pull him back into the right gait.

Many fair races are conducted in "heats." J. Ralph Peak, State Fair manager, explained that the heat is one trip in a race that is decided when an animal wins two or more trials. A race is usually determined by a horse winning two heats, or standing best in the summary when scheduled heats are completed. A "dash" is a race decided in a single trip.

A horse is "parked out" when he's lapped outside other horses near the rail and there's no chance to get in. As a result he goes farther and often tires before the finish. The "pole" is the post position nearest the rail and a "score" is the final warmup before the race. A "sulky" or "bike" carries the driver.

Redlegs Battle From Behind For 8-6 Win Over Cubs In 10 Innings

CHICAGO — The Cincinnati Redlegs, after blowing an early five-run lead fashioned on Wally Post's grand slam homer, battled from behind Tuesday for an 8-6 victory in 10 innings over the Chicago Cubs.

Ed Bailey's game-tying homer in the eighth and Don Hoak's game-deciding double in the 10th were the big blows.

The victory left the Redlegs two percentage points out of first place with the leading Milwaukee Braves still to play the third-place St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday night.

Post unloaded the base-home run blow, his second of the season, in a five-run scoring that inning that kayoed starter Don Kistner. Then the seventh-place Cubs scored three runs in the third and two more in the fourth to tie the game 5-5.

In the Cub uprisings, Lee Walls smashed a two-run homer and a two-run triple and Ernie Banks hit a solo home run.

Walls also scored a run to put the Cubs ahead 6-5 in the seventh inning.

Bailey belted his homer to tie the count 6-6.

The Redlegs had defeated Chicago Tuesday afternoon. The Cardinals triumph left them in third place, a game behind Cincinnati and half a game behind the Braves.

McDaniel, the high school boy signed by the Cards a little over a month ago, retired the first 18 men to face him. He had 29,211 fans, largest crowd of the season at Busch Stadium, sitting on the edges of their seats.

But he appeared to tire in the seventh and quickly yielded four hits and two runs. He gave up a total of five hits in gaining his fourth straight triumph but needed help from reliever Hoyt Wilhelm.

Bill Bruton, the first man to face McDaniel in the seventh, singled.

Then, as the potential no-hitter evaporated, Red Schoendienst doubled, Bruton scored on Ed Mathews' sacrifice fly and Hank Aaron singled home another run.

McDaniel stuck out the inning, but in the eighth, after a line single by Del Crandall, and a liner to Don Blasingame by pinch batter Carl Sawatski, the tying 18-year-old pitcher was taken out in favor of Wilhelm. The knuckleball specialist retired five men in order to maintain young McDaniel's fourth victory. McDaniel hasn't been defeated in the five weeks of his major league career.

The Cardinals victory was at the expense of Warren Spahn. Stan Musial doubled home the first run against Spahn, in the third. Felix Mantilla's error, another double by Musial, and Del Ennis line single scored two more in the fifth. Ennis completed the scoring with a home run with the bases empty, in the seventh.

Bonus-boy McDaniel proved his $50,000 worth to the Cardinals in ways other than the straight art of pitching. The announcement that he would pitch drew the Cardinals' largest house of the season. Knuckleball gang and military took up all the seats.

Judge Grants IBC 4-Month Stay Tuesday

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK — Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, who directed boxing promoters James D. Norris and Arthur Wirtz to break up their twin International Boxing Clubs, Tuesday granted them a four-month stay so they might apply to the Supreme Court for a review.

The motion for a stay was made by defense counsel Kenneth C. Royall, after Judge Ryan had made final Tuesday his injunctive proceedings involving the promoters, Madison Square Garden Corp. and the IBC organization of New York and Illinois.

"If the Supreme Court grants your application to review, it would be presumptuous on my part not to extend the stay pending the court's action," the judge said. "If, however, you do not file in Washington within 60 days the government can move to remove the stay gotten here."

Norris said that "our present thinking is that we would appeal."

Judge Ryan's final action followed his decree of June 24. Previously the jurist had found the IBC guilty of monopolistic practices in the promotion of world championship fights.

On June 24, Judge Ryan ordered the dissolution of both clubs, ruled that Norris and Wirtz must sell their 39 per cent interest in Madison Square Garden Corp., and resign as officers and directors of the Garden.

He also forbade them to hold exclusive contracts with fighters and ruled that Madison Square Garden and Chicago Stadium, which is owned by Norris and Wirtz, could run only two fights each year for the next five years.

The stay permits the International Boxing Clubs to remain in operation until the legal situation is finally determined. If the Supreme Court decides to review, the case could drag on many months beyond Nov. 1.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (U) — The stock market advanced early this afternoon. Radio-televisions, oils and rails were in demand as key stocks moved upward from fractions to around two points. But there were also some losers among pivotal issues, notably aircrafts and nonferrous metals.

While consumer credit was reported making its biggest increase in the year, the news background was not entirely bullish. Steel output has slumped to its lowest since the nationwide steel strike and there were price cuts for zinc and copper.

Gulf Oil was up more than two points and Texas Co. around a point. Zenith was a two-point gainer.

U. S. Steel and Lukens advanced about a point each. United Aircraft and Douglas Aircraft were each down well beyond a point.

U. S. government bonds were higher.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE

NEW YORK (U) — The stock market came to life Tuesday, making a vigorous advance with the livestock trading in more than two points.

Almost all divisions participated in the general rise which saw key stocks gain from fractions to 2 points or more. Specialties also were actively traded.

Based on the rise in the average, the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange rose an estimated $1,736,000,000.

A further inflationary spur was afforded to investment thinking by the news that installment credit had made its biggest increase of the year. At the same time, analysts said, the improvement in the bond market gave a more attractive look to investment-type stocks.

Aircrafts, however, suffered from reports of a stretch-out in military spending.

Nevertheless, steels joined in the upward move despite the fact that the industry's output was at its lowest ebb since August 1936. Wall Street observers said that a good deal of Tuesday's rise could be credited to technical market factors. The rise of the rails, though they were said to be oversold compared with the rest of the market, was also tied to hopes of a freight rate increase this month.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.40 to $183.80 with the industrials up $2.10, the rails up $1.10 and the utilities up 50 cents.

Volume totaled 2,450,000 shares compared with 1,840,000 Monday. Prices were irregular on the American Stock Exchange. Volume totaled 740,000 shares compared with 670,000 Tuesday.

FEED GRAINS SPUR RALLY IN PRICES

By WILLARD ROBERTSON

CHICAGO, (U) — Feed grains took the spotlight Tuesday on the Board of Trade in a rally which carried prices upward again after the retreat of the previous session.

Government reports of crop damages and delays caused buying which pushed corn up more than a cent, oats more than two cents in some cases, and soybeans as much as 3 1/2 higher. Wheat followed along with less pronounced gains.

New style wheat closed 3/4 to 1 1/2 higher, corn 1/4 to 1 1/2 up, oats 1/2 to 2 1/4 higher, rye 1/2 to 1 1/2 higher, soybeans 3/4 to 3 1/2 higher, and lard 12 cents a hundred pounds lower to 13 cents higher.

The government weekly weather and crop summary said heavy rains and high winds which moved inland over the Louisiana coast June 27 advanced through Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, and western parts of West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and New York. They blew down much corn and caused some washing and flooding damage.

In Illinois, some corn is still to be planted in southern areas, the report said. The crop is further advanced in Iowa but is only 20 per cent laid by compared with 80 per cent at this time last year.

Wheat combining was reported 25 per cent completed in Illinois, 15 per cent in Indiana, and expected to become general in Ohio this week.

NEW YORK Bond Market

NEW YORK, (U) — Both corporate and government bonds ran up good gains Tuesday in moderately active dealings.

It was a continuation of the general recovery movement which began after the market for corporates and treasury issues reached its low for 1937 recently.

In the corporate list, the general advance swept through all major divisions. Bond volume on the Big Board mounted to $5,280,000 par value from Monday's $4,610,000.

On the basis of the record, it is much safer to assume that the firm Russian intention to advance.

SUBSTITUTE DOCTOR

By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

NAN now was sitting very still in the corner of the boat seat; her head was down so that Garde looked at the top of her shiny black head, the crescents made by her dark eyebrows and by her eyelashes, her straight nose, her pretty mouth. Her hands were busy with the matter of creasing the cloth of her shorts. But he knew that her stillness concealed raw, burning hurt.

"Valley stayed on, of course. She sent for some clothes and brought some—and she and Kurt..."

"Finally a night came when I saw them down on the pier together; his arms were around her, and her head was back—and they kissed." She coughed, and took a deep breath, and went on.

"Kurt had brought me home, and—well—I suppose he met Valley down on the pier by previous arrangement."

"Did they know you'd seen them?" Garde had to exert effort to keep his tone calm.

"Oh, no. I didn't go too close—as I say, it was moonlight, and with the riding lights—well, I watched them for only a minute. And then I went up the hill again—you know—through the yards..."

For a time they cruised along, the breeze, the sun, the river exerting each its own balm. Garde debated whether the discussion should be continued...

Then, "Did Kurt ever say anything to you? About Valley?" She shook her head. "Not one word, Garde. I knew he was seeing her, and yet, with me, he was just as he had been before she came. He called me each day, he took me places—he was kind to me and attentive. But, still, certain things were different. We didn't go on making definite plans for our marriage. Just before Valley came, we'd begun to look at house plans; we were going to build our own home at the edge of the Lillard grounds. But after she came, we didn't do anything more about that."

A noisy, sputtering outboard bore down upon them and passed with a waving of hands and shouted greetings.

"I believe," Nan resumed, "that it shocked Valley to know that she still loved Kurt, that a man could exert such a hold upon her. Through all those years—and I believe we both realized this—it had been Kurt's fault that Valley had never married."

Again he nodded in agreement.

"THERE was the usual big dance at the club on Saturday night. It's always a big thing; we get in a good band; the women dress up; we have guests—generally house guests of the members. That night Valley wore white—and she looked radiant. She'd sent for some of her clothes and she offered to let me wear one of her dresses. I remember that I wasn't very nice about the way I said 'No.' I spoke brusquely to her when she insisted—because I was hurt, I suppose. But anyway, I just wore my old red, which I'd worn so often before that it was familiar to the least observant."

"So—well, you know how it is here, Garde. Until you came, our crowd didn't offer anything in the way of an extra man. They were all married or going steady with some girl—and I didn't have much choice."

"I asked Ben to go with us to the dance, knowing that Kurt wouldn't like it, and he didn't. You see, he really had had trouble with Ben some years before. They talked about that so much at the trial! Kurt hated any mention of it, he'd have gladly forgotten the whole thing."

Garde stiffened to attention. Nan glanced at him. "But not to pay blackmail, Garde!" She leaned toward him to express her earnestness.

"But, Nan," he insisted, "if the old man was buying that boy off, it was a matter of blackmail!"

"Well, of course—I don't know if he did any more than tell Ben to let Kurt alone. I remember he bragged to me about having something on Doc Lillard. He wanted me to ask him questions about it and I wouldn't. He had a way of suggesting unpleasant things that I didn't like to know about, so whenever he got on that line, I just wouldn't let the conversation continue. I didn't even ask him which Doc Lillard he meant..."

"Maybe I should have asked him,"

She looked questioning at Garde, who nodded.

"Well, anyway," said Nan, abandoning the futile effort to explain why the dead boy had done the things he did, "that night at the dance, Valley was not at all nice to Ben, nor was Kurt. There's no doubt of that!"

"So," said Garde, "that's one of the things we know?"

"Mhmmmm," She looked out again at the view they had of the river and the sky. "So, maybe to avoid trouble, or maybe because I hadn't any choice left, I took over with Ben that night, which of course let Valley and Kurt pair off. They danced a little, or if Ben and I danced, they sat at the table on the veranda, the way they had done so much since Valley had been in Bayard."

you didn't know him before his stroke. But he was a fussy little man. Most people loved him dearly, and I did myself. But I've gotten angry with him a time or two for telling me things. Oh, once, that I had too bright lipstick on when I sang in the choir. He liked everything to be just so, all proper and dignified! And I suppose he could have taken steps to stop Ben's yelling at Kurt on the street..."

"So," said Garde, "that's one of the things we know?"

"Mhmmmm," She looked out again at the view they had of the river and the sky. "So, maybe to avoid trouble, or maybe because I hadn't any choice left, I took over with Ben that night, which of course let Valley and Kurt pair off. They danced a little, or if Ben and I danced, they sat at the table on the veranda, the way they had done so much since Valley had been in Bayard."

Garde stiffened to attention. Nan glanced at him. "But not to pay blackmail, Garde!" She leaned toward him to express her earnestness.

"But, Nan," he insisted, "if the old man was buying that boy off, it was a matter of blackmail!"

"Well, of course—I don't know if he did any more than tell Ben to let Kurt alone. I remember he bragged to me about having something on Doc Lillard. He wanted me to ask him questions about it and I wouldn't. He had a way of suggesting unpleasant things that I didn't like to know about, so whenever he got on that line, I just wouldn't let the conversation continue. I didn't even ask him which Doc Lillard he meant..."

"Maybe I should have asked him,"

She looked questioning at Garde, who nodded.

"Well, anyway," said Nan, abandoning the futile effort to explain why the dead boy had done the things he did, "that night at the dance, Valley was not at all nice to Ben, nor was Kurt. There's no doubt of that!"

"So," said Garde, "that's one of the things we know?"

Blasts Baseball Broadcasts As 'Beercasts'

EVANSTON, Ill. — "Baseball has become beerball," the president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union said Tuesday in a blast aimed at radio and television sponsors and major league club owners.

Mrs. Glenn G. Hays, who described herself as a sports fan in addition to her role as head of the games of each of the major league clubs are now brew-sponsored on the air. She added: "What was once the national pastime now appears to have become the star salesman of the beer barons, while club owners, hungry for revenue, wonder why public interest and patronage have declined."

Mrs. Hays further stated: "Beercasts of the game try to convince anyone who hears or sees them, that it's the right thing to do to sit in front of the set and get drunk while viewing or listening."

"Children who love baseball are obviously not excluded from the wheedling commercials that urge listeners to rush to the liquor store or icebox for the sponsor's beer between every inning or half inning."

COMMITTEE VOTES FOR FLOOD CONTROL PROJECT FOR STATE

WASHINGTON — Rep. Gray (D-Ill.) Tuesday reported the House Public Works Committee voted 19-12 to authorize a $5,900,000 flood control project for the Saline River and tributaries in southern Illinois.

Gray said the committee also adopted his amendment to the project in the omnibus navigation-flood control authorization measure reducing the local cash contribution from $980,000, as recommended by Army engineers, to $233,000. The Senate-passed measure contained this reduction in local participation.

Gray said the committee vote was by party lines—19 Democrats for and 12 Republicans against. He said he expects Republican members to attempt to delete the project on the House floor but expressed confidence it will obtain House approval.

He said the project would alleviate flood conditions in Saline and Gallatin counties.

WOMAN TRAPPED BY 'ETC.' GOES TO JAIL

HAMILTON TOWNSHIP, N. J. — Mrs. Julia Bednarski — trapped by an "etc." in the law — went to jail Tuesday rather than pay a $10 fine for watering her trees.

She'll be freed on July 4th—Independence Day.

Magistrate Daniel Rappoport ruled Mrs. Bednarski, 51, violated a municipal ordinance by watering the roots of some trees.

The ordinance bans excessive use of water between 8 a. m. and 10:30 p. m. It specifically forbids "watering lawns, washing cars, etc."

Mrs. Bednarski argued that the ordinance did not prohibit watering tree roots.

But, according to the municipal clerk's office, that is covered by the "etc."

Rappoport imposed a $10 fine but Mrs. Bednarski wouldn't pay. So he sent her to county jail for three days.

Biggest Nuclear Blast In U.S. Set For July Fourth

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — They may touch off what could be the largest atomic blast in the United States on the morning of the fourth of July.

The next shot of the current nuclear test series Tuesday was postponed from Wednesday until the fourth because of unfavorable winds.

The winds were so strong at the test site that scientists decided not to inflate the balloon from which the weapon will be suspended. They wanted to inflate it to conduct tests that are customary before each blast.

At a briefing Dr. Alvin C. Graves of the test organization said that if the shot returns a maximum energy yield it will be the largest ever fired on this continent. If it returns the minimum, it will not. He did not disclose the energy range, saying only that the maximum would be "considerably less than 100 kilotons."

The most powerful blast to date was on June 4, 1953. Its force was unofficially estimated at 40 kilotons, or the equivalent of 40,000 tons of TNT. The Hiroshima bomb was 20 kilotons. Unofficial estimates put the upper limit of the next shot at 50 to 60 kilotons.

Dr. Graves said the primary concern is not with radioactive fallout, which he said should be negligible, but with flash and blast effects.

The test weapon is scheduled for detonation at 4:40 a.m. at Yucca Flat on the proving ground 75 miles northwest. The balloon will suspend it at 1,500 feet.

Nearly 2,000 Marines from Camp Pendleton, Calif., will be in trenches 5,700 yards from Ground Zero.

Series Of Car Mishaps Has Smashing Climax

WICHITA, Kan. — "My car wouldn't start," Clarence L. Liles, 16, told Wichita police, "so I asked my mother-in-law to give me a push with her car."

"She agreed, and soon she was pushing me. Before long the rear axle on my car broke. I told my mother-in-law to keep on pushing. A block farther on, the left wheel fell off."

"So I started down the street to use a telephone to call a tow truck. I wasn't very far down the street when my mother-in-law called to tell me a train was coming."

"Then I realized the front end of my car was on the railroad tracks. I started running to flag down the train."

"I waved frantically at the engineer, but he just smiled and kept going."

The engineer, W. J. Schroeder, told police he thought the boy was joking.

Schroeder said he thought the locomotive had room to miss the car and didn't realize his mistake until he heard the crash.

Finish Clearing Of Debris At East Cemetery

Approximately one hundred men working under the direction of Mr. Lee Roy Jackson hauled away over a hundred loads of brush and debris from the Jacksonville East cemetery last night to complete the clearing of the cemetery.

The men working from six o'clock until after dark climaxed a three night clean up campaign which has been going on at the cemetery. In those three nights the men have moved 350 loads of brush and logs from the cemetery grounds. Everything is now cleaned from the cemetery except the largest logs and the smallest sticks and leaves.

Mr. Jackson, speaking on behalf of the Exchange Club and as chairman of the project, expressed his sincere appreciation and thanks to all those who helped in any way either by donating equipment or by working at the cemetery for the fine work that they have done.

After the men finished their work they were served refreshments by the Exchangees. The food was donated by the Jacksonville Food Stores, the Coca Cola Co., the National Food Store and the Amrhein Holsum Bakery.

His mother, Mrs. Howard Leffler Jr., was away at the time Bobby decided to call his grandmother and was very surprised to find that he had done so.
